MORGAN SAYS THERE COULD BE NO TRUST.

All Banks in Christendom Could Not Control Money.

Big Financier Would Prefer Combination to Competition.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—"There could be no money trust. All the banks and all the money in Christendom could not control money. The question of control is personal as to money and credits," declared J. Pierpont Morgan today to the House Money Trust investigating committee.

The big financier was led up to his answer by the questioning of Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, who asked Mr. Morgan if he "did not feel his vast power." Mr. Morgan answered that he did not admit that he had vast power and did not feel it.

Once, when the lawyer and the witness were in a discussion of competition and combination, Mr. Morgan said: "I'd rather have combination than competition. I like a little competition, but I like combination better. Control is the important thing. Without it you can't do a thing, but no one man could monopolize money. One man might get control of railroads or merchandise, but never money and credit."

Mr. Morgan's declaration that there "could be no money trust," emphasized by a vigorous bang with his fist on the arm of the chair, came toward the end of the committee's morning session, at which the financier testified as to the relations of the house of Morgan with several great corporations.

Mr. Morgan testified that he had approved the prices at which the subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation were taken into the big corporation. Mr. Untermyer asked if he had not named the board of directors of the Steel Corporation, but Mr. Morgan only said that he might have "decided who should not go on."

His holdings of certain bank stock he characterized as "not very much, about a million dollars," much to the amusement of the committee and the crowd which heard his testimony. When a laugh went around the financier joined in heartily.

The principal part of Mr. Morgan's testimony, as to the concentration of money an credits, was to be resumed at the afternoon session. It was expected that his testimony would be ended today.

Mr. Morgan, surrounded by nearly a dozen of his partners and attorneys, answered with apparent freedom all questions. He agreed that in the case of "voting trusts," several of which existed in his company, a few trustees could name the directors, who in turn would name the officers of great interstate industrial or railroad corporations. Mr. Morgan denied, however, that he believed interlocking directorships in several banks, trust companies or corporations, could bring about control and a unity of action. He declared that without a majority on the boards such men could not dictate affairs or control the corporations.

The financier took direct issue with Mr. Untermyer as to the opportunity offered a few men to control general banking conditions through such participation as Morgan & Co have on the boards of directors of the leading banks of New York.

"Can't you give the committee a statement of the deposits of your banking firm in New York as of November 1?" asked Mr. Untermeyer.

Mr. Morgan approximated it at about $100,000,000. He said he would furnish a statement showing the figures. Mr. Morgan said that he and his partners were directors in some of the interstate corporations, that have accounts with J. P. Morgan & Co. His counsel agreed to furnish a list of those directorships. Mr. Morgan here produced, in response to a question, copies of the fiscal agreements between J. P. Morgan & Co., and the New York Central and New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Companies. Mr. Morgan said that there were no such agreements made by his house. He said the firm acted as fiscal agent for other companies "by tacit agreement."

"You are acting for a number of other corporations are you not, including the United States Steel Corporation?" suggested Mr. Untermyer.

"Yes, but that is by a resolution of board of directors of the Steel Corporation," said Mr. Morgan.

As to other agreements whereby the Morgan house became fiscal agents for corporations, he said they were "by word of mouth or by correspondence."

Mr. Untermyer read part of the New York Central fiscal agreement by which Morgan & Co. were made sole bankers for the road. Mr. Morgan said he had been a director of the New York Central about 25 years.

Included in the fiscal agreement were the Michigan Central, the Lake Shore and the Cleveland, Chicago & St. Louis Railroads. Mr. Morgan said that some issues of New York Central securities had been made in the last 10 years through other bankers than his house.

"I can't recall any, but I think there were some," said he.

"In the last five years?"

"I don't remember of any. None that I can recall just now."

LUITPOLD INTERRED BESIDE MAXIMILIAN II.

Body Placed in Sepulchre Beneath Church of Theatines.

Prince Regent of Bavaria Accorded All the Kingly Honors.

MUNICH, Bavaria, Dec. 19.—The body of the late Prince Regent Luitpold of Bavaria was carried today to its sepulchre beneath the altar of the Church of the Theatines in this city, where it was laid beside that of King Maximilian II.

The German emperor, the king of the Belgians, the king of Saxony, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent of Austria-Hungary, and a number of princes representing the royal houses of Europe followed the coffin in the procession, which passed through streets crowded with silent mourners.

While the procession was on the way to the church, and also during the service, minute guns were fired and bells were tolled. Although during his life the prince regent had declined to adopt the royal title, because as he said the real king was still living but unable to rule on account of insanity, Bavaria treated the dead Luitpold with kingly honors. The funeral was conducted with all the ritual employed in the case of dead Bavarian sovereigns, including the escort attired in mediaeval costumes, while the coffin was accompanied by cowled candle bearers.

The heart of the dead regent was embalmed separately and interred with those of many preceding Bavarian rulers at the village of Alt-Oetting, where it reposed in a silver case beside the famous shrine of the Virgin Mary.

BESIEGED TOWNS TO BE RE-VICTUALLED.

Otherwise Turkey Will Break Off All Negotiations.

Peace Conference Adjourns to Await New Credentials.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The Ottoman government has authorized its delegates to the peace conference to propose at the next session that Adrianople and all the other besieged Turkish towns shall be re-victualled and if the proposal is not accepted by the delegates of the Balkan allies negotiations are to be broken off, according to a news agency despatch received here from Constantinople.

The plenipotentiaries representing the Balkan allies and the Turkish empire re-assembled at 4 o'clock this afternoon in St. James Palace. They had not met since Tuesday, when an adjournment was taken for the purpose of permitting the Ottoman representatives to communicate with their government at Constantinople on the subject of the admission of the Greek delegates to the conference.

The plenipotentiaries were in session only about three quarters of an hour. Tiken Rechad Pasha and Salih Pasha hurriedly left the place and went to their hotel. They refused to give reporters ay information. It was later announced that the conference had adjourned until 4 p. m. Saturday. The Turkish delegates state that they are not yet in possession of their full instructions or their new credentials, which have been despatched from Constantinople by special courier, and the conference decided that it must await their arrival and consequently adjourned. The new credentials awaited by the Turks are necessitated by changes in their instructions regarding negotiations with the Greek delegates.

Whether peace is to be declared or the war continued is expected to be settled within 48 hours. In diplomatic circles in London the opinion prevails that if the thorny obstacles which are likely to present themselves at the sessions of the peace conference in St. James Palace today and tomorrow can be circumvented, peace will be assured. The re-victualling of the Turkish fortress of Adianople, on which the Turks are reported to insist as a condition to the waiving of their demand that Greece should sign the armistice, is a most troublesome point and if the Turks maintain their attitude it will indicate that they are still firm on the subject of retention of the fortress after the war.

It is thought here that should Turkey carry her point in regard to re-victualling the garrison of Adrianople it would imply that the possession of that fortress would ultimately remain with the Turks. As soon as the question of Greek participation in the peace conference shall have been settled, if that is possible, the demands of the allies will be unfolded and a crucial stage will have been reached when the good offices of the powers may be needed. With outside mediation it appears impossible now to bridge the gulf dividing the minimum demands of the allied Balkan nations and the maximum offer of the Turks if these demands and their offer are to be accepted at their face values.

The ambassadors of the European powers will meet Sir Edward Grey at the British foreign office tomorrow and then adjourn until after Christmas.

DUNN HELD IN "THREAT" CASE.

Alleged Author of Wilson Letter Given Preliminary Hearing.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 19.—Jacob Dunn, alone of the three mountaineers charged with having sent threatening letters to President-elect Wilson, was held for the grand jury at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing here this afternoon. Seeley Davenport was discharged and Dunn's bail was reduced from $2000 to $1000.

United States Commissioner Stockton, before whom the hearing was held, found that the evidence against Davenport was insufficient. Warren Dunn, Jacob's brother, was released yesterday by the court for a similar reason. Jacob Dunn had not furnished bail and was held in confinement. He is alleged to have admitted writing the letter, but to have denied its authorship, declaring that his former alleged statement was made under duress.

The three men were arrested last week on the charge that November 11 last they sent Governor Wilson a letter demanding $5000 upon penalty of death.

SLANG AND SLANG.

As an Addition to Language, Vivid Phrases Add Force to Speaking and Writing.

[New York Tribune.]

A Radcliffe College student, who is also a playwright, comes to the defense of slang. What she calls "good slang" she says is necessary to the language, which without it would lose much in vividness and force.

So far as slang is an addition to language, the substitution of a vivid word or phrase for colorless description or characterization, it is an element for force and attractiveness in speaking and writing. Much slang is crystallized metaphor and is a perfectly legitimate enrichment of the vocabulary. With the new cant phrase of politics or society, founded on some striking incident, nobody can reasonably find fault. But there is another sort of slang, or another use of good slang, which is not an enrichment but an impoverishment of language, and against it not merely the sticklers for dictionary English but all who care for the preservation of the full resources of our tongue should labor unceasingly.

That is the slang of indolence, the shorthand of speech. And it is far more familiar than the slang which colors and diversifies. How often we meet with persons of intelligence and ideas who have so fallen into the habit of using cant slang phrases to express their thoughts that those thoughts have no distinction and definiteness! These persons have often lost command of words adequate to give sharp edge to their meaning. They are like primitive folk with only a few words in stock, and those few words of slang are made to do duty with all sorts of different meanings, of which the speaker can give no clear definition and the hearer can gain no satisfactory concept.

By all means let us keep the new pat phrase which strikes off a situation and has some stimulating power. Nobody wants a dead language. But neither should we have an anaemic and lame one, hobbling along on the crutches of slang. Our language has a great variety of words with shades of meaning which are going out of use, and with them the clear thinking which they call for, simply because lazy people habitually substitute the rude synonym in slang, which somehow or other approximates their idea, for the words which would accurately express it.

THE PROBLEM OF SMOKE.

Action Causes Enormous Waste, Destruction of Vegetation and Deaths Among Animals.

[William D. Harkins, in Popular Mechanics Magazine.]

It is strange that so little is known in regard to smoke, but that the importance of such knowledge is just beginning to be understood is shown by the recent establishment in the University of Pittsburgh of a laboratory for the sole purpose of studying smoke from a scientific standpoint. In this laboratory, started less than a year ago, there are already 25 specialists studying this problem. The United States bureau of mines is also studying the problem of preventing the escape in cities of the black smoke due to coal, and it has just established a special laboratory in San Francisco for the purpose of studying the smoke given off by copper-smelting plants. Chicago is conducting a study of its own problem; much work is being done by industrial concerns, and abroad the problem is being scientifically attacked.

That the work now being done is entirely inadequate may be seen when it is considered that the smoke inspector in the city of Chicago estimates that the damage caused annually in that city by the soot and other ingredients of smoke amounts to $50,000,000 in ruined merchandise, and on the same basis, it is said that the damage in the entire United States would be about $500,000,000 in one year. This, however, does not by any means represent the entire loss since the black soot, which escapes and does a large part of the damage, is really wasted coal, and it is estimated that the coal lost in the smoke amounts on the average to about 10 per cent of all that is used. In other words, the average purchaser of coal, when he pays $5 a ton for it, tosses 50 cents' worth out of the chimney unburned, to do damage to his neighbors, and then usually wastes a large proportion of the heat in the four-and-a-half-dollars' worth that is left. When it is realized that the purchaser of this ton of coal is also paying for his share of the 500,000,000 tons of coal that are wasted in this country every year, some comprehension may be gained of the magnitude of wastes of this nature. However large these figures, the work of the government has shown that the losses are even greater than they would indicate, for by converting the coal into a gas called producer gas, not only is all the damage due to the soot of smoke eliminated, but in addition, by using the gas in a gas engine, a ton of coal gives two and a half times as much power as it would in a steam engine.

What would you think of the loss of a million dollars a year up one chimney? It is probable that there has never been a loss so great as this in exactly this way, but a Western smelter company has had a very interesting experience. A few years ago it was found that large quantities of arsenic, copper, sulphuric acid and other substances, were being thrown out by their four great smokestacks. The arsenic especially gave them considerable trouble, for the farmers, some of whom lived as far as 15 miles away, claimed that their cattle were being poisoned by the smoke and were dying, and that no one wished to buy the hay, which was the principal crop of their farms, since it seemed to have bad effect on the cattle that ate it.

WOMEN SHY AT JURY DUTY.

An evident reluctance among women in Independence, Kansas, society to respond to calls for jury service has brought an announcement by Justice Clarke that he "intended to have a woman jury in every case in his court where the testimony is not likely to be of an embarrassing nature." He said women had more time for jury duty than men.

The deputy sheriff reported that he had found it practically impossible to serve subpoenas on six prominent women summoned as jurors in the case of "Jim" Blue, to be tried, charged with "shooting up" an interurban street car. In many cases, he said, he was met at the door by a butler or maid with the information that the mistress was "out of town," while at the same time he could see the "absentee" at an upstairs window laughing at him.

CURED VERY SORE RASH ON BABY'S EAR

Scratched Until It Bled Then Turned Into Scabs. Mother Washed It with Cuticura Soap and Applied Cuticura Ointment. In Three Weeks He Was as Well as Ever.

74 Blackstone St., Worcester, Mass.—"First a red rash came on baby's ear and it was very itchy. He would scratch it until it would bleed and then it would turn into scabs, and get very sore. He was very cross. I got some ointment; but that made it worse and made him crosser. I bought the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and washed baby with the Cuticura Soap; then put the Cuticura Ointment on. I was surprised to see him getting better after a few treatments and I kept on using them. At the end of three weeks he was perfectly cured. Now he has a beautiful clear skin and has not had any trouble since.

"When I saw how it cured baby I made my husband try it on a rash he had on his leg, which was very sore. After using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment six times it disappeared for good." (Signed) Mrs. John D. Dixon, Nov. 12, 1911.

For treating poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, Cuticura Soap and Ointment have been the world's favorites for more than a generation.

Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

SHORTAGE OF LINE OFFICERS.

A Great Stagnation in Promotion Will Result Unless Higher Grades Are Increased.

There continues to be a shortage of line officers in the navy, due to the increased number of vessels in active service and in reserve. According to Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, in 1916 there will be enough officers, if the average output of the Naval Academy remains the same, to man the fleet properly. If there are no more battleships than at present. There will, in fact, be the New York, Texas and Pennsylvania. The proportions, however, are not in accordance with Rear Admiral Andrews's views. He states that unless the higher grades are increased there will be a great stagnation in promotion. The number should be distributed in the various grades to meet the requirements of the service. He says:

"Of the 1,171 officers in the lowest two grades more than 670 would be junior lieutenants, and at the rate of promotion now provided an officer would be 16 years in that grade and could not become a commander under 58 years of age, leaving only four years before retirement for service as commander, captain and flag officer. Needless to say this would mean a condition far more intolerable than that from which the personnel act of 1899 gave relief."

ONE NEW TRIAL POSSIBLE.

Ordered Unless Plaintiff in Dog Bite Case of Anna Marshall Shall Reduce the Damages.

Rescripts have been filed by Judge Baker in the office of the clerk of the superior court in the cases of Anna and Rosie Marshall vs. John Vanasse. When these were heard some time ago the jury gave verdicts for the plaintiffs, awarding damages of $50 to Anna Marshall and $200 to Rosie Marshall, for injuries received from the bites of a dog belonging to the defendant.

In the case of Anna Marshall Judge Baker rules that, unless within 10 days the plaintiff shall remit all in excess of $15 damages, a new trial is granted. In the case of Rosie Marshall the decision is that the damages are not excessive and the motion for a new trial is dismissed. The rescript also considers the question of liability and decides that the testimony established a clear right for action under the general laws.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of The News]

Mr. Sylvanus P. Fish, superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School, is seriously ill, confined to bed and under the care of a physician. This is the third winter that he has suffered from a similar illness for many weeks. It began the day after the recent Sunday School celebration.

Brownell's yard is empty of coal of any kind, but a barge is expected and said to be on the way.

Mr. Clarence E. Brownell has returned from the South and set up housekeeping in the "Bee hive."

Mr. Walter P. Sherman still continues very ill, unable even to raise his head. Mr. Herbert Chase is caring for him nights.

Mr. James T. Earl of New Bedford is spending the week in town.

Mrs. Greene, widow of Oliver Greene of Providence, about 90 years of age, having many relatives and nieces by marriage in this town, is very ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. Elwyn B. Anthony, who has been for a week in the family of Mr. Edward Hicks of Tiverton, caring for a pneumonia patient, is expected home today.

Mrs. George Hollister of Hartford has arrived at the home of her father, Captain Oliver G. Hicks of Bristol Ferry, to remain over the Christmas holidays. Mr. Hollister will join them at Christmas.

Dr. and Mrs. McCullagh of Worcester, the latter aunt of Mrs. J. M. Eldredge of Bristol Ferry and formerly a visitor here, and Mrs. Isaac M. Potter of Providence form three of a party of eight who left today for a trip to the Panama canal, going by water.

The Associated Workers, who were to have an exhibition of their various industries and a sale at the Social Studio, were defeated in their purpose for the present by the storm.

Mrs. Edwin F. Manchester, who has been confined to bed for a week, is a little better.

Mrs. Walter Brinkman was taken seriously ill Wednesday morning.

Mrs. John Paquin, who submitted to an operation at her home early this week, is doing well.

APARTMENT HOUSE ONLY ONE STORY HIGH.

Apartment houses only one story high have been evolved by an architect of Sierra Madre, Cal., after the Spanish mission style. The cottages or apartments are built on the north and west sides of a town block, leaving the south and east sides open for the sun to reach each cottage and allow the residents an outlook on a green terraced lawn. Designed for small families, each apartment consists of only three rooms with an entrance loggia, which can be used for a sleeping porch or sitting room. While they all join in one long rambling structure, the individual apartments are so cleverly constructed that they give no less privacy than a cottage in a well built-up neighborhood. Each family has its own well defined bit of garden and walk, which merge harmoniously into the larger lawn.

MIDDLETOWN

[Regular correspondence of The News]

The Paradise Club was entertained at its weekly meeting by Mrs. B. W. H. Peckham at her home on Honyman hill. Current events were conducted by Mrs. Edward J. Peckham and the subject of the afternoon, "American Artists and Their Works," by Mrs. William J. Peckham. Light refreshments were served.

In spite of the rain there was a good attendance at the usual Wednesday supper at the Methodist Episcopal Church, conducted by the Ladies' Aid Society. The evening was spent in preparing the Christmas greens, secured from the Tiverton woods Monday by Messrs. E. Robert Grinnell, Walter Barker, Roland and Gardner Peckham and others, and the decorations of the church were nearly completed. The small amount of work unfinished was done this morning by the pastor, Rev. E. E. Wells, and Mr. Walter Barker.

The offering for St. Andrew's School taken at the Berkeley Memorial Chapel this fall was $52.55 and for St. Mary's Orphanage $35.32.

Mrs. William Irist will entertain the Epworth League at its weekly cottage service, which will be devoted to Christmas and is to be conducted by Rev. Mr. Wells.

While most of the schools will hold their closing Christmas exercises Friday, those at the Oliphant school took place this afternoon.

WILL ACCEPT YALE OFFER.

Taft's Decision to Take Kent Professorship Greatly Pleases Officials at New Haven.

President Taft has decided to accept the proffer of the Kent professorship of law at Yale, and probably will take up his duties at New Haven early in the spring. He will not be restricted merely to lectures to Yale students, but will be permitted to lecture if he desires in other law schools or upon the platform, or to engage in any other occupation which he sees fit.

If he had returned to Cincinnati to resume his law business he feared that he would have but little opportunity for practice. He felt that he could not appear on cases before the United States Supreme Court, because he has appointed a majority of its membership. He also remembered when he thought of the law that he had named many federal judges in Ohio before whom he might have to argue cases and he believed that about the only sort of practice which he could take up would be international, and that he regarded as uncertain.

At Yale the President will be in surroundings dear to him and in a position to engage in almost any sort of business which he believes becomes a retired President. The analogy between the Yale professorship and Grover Cleveland's relation with Princeton appealed to Mr. Taft strongly, and when many of his close friends and advisers wrote to him approving his acceptance of the chair at Yale he decided to take it.

The President expects to spend several weeks after March 4 in Augusta, Ga., where he has many friends.

The news that President Taft has made up his mind to accept the Kent professorship of law at Yale was received with keen pleasure. President Hadley said he was "very glad" that the President had made the decision, and Dean Henry Wade Rogers of the Yale Law School said he was "delighted."

NEW ATLANTIC FLEET PAY OFFICER.

Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, who at Hampton Roads January 4 will relieve Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, has selected Pay Inspector Samuel McGowan for duty as fleet pay officer. He will succeed Pay Inspector E. W. Bonnafon in the cruise of the battleship fleet around the world. Pay Inspector McGowan was the fleet pay officer from San Francisco back to Hampton Roads, and handled with success one of the largest supply problems which ever confronted the service.

In Missouri it has just been discovered that a state job which would pay about $9,000 annually in fees had not been filled for 13 years.

SHIP AHOY!

[Elizabeth Knobel, in Continent.]

My bowl of milk, you will agree,
Makes a delightful China sea;
And for a ship both brave and stanch
A little piece of bread I launch.
But first I load it, just for fun,
With currants from my supper bun,
A little jam, some jelly sweet,
And then the cargo is complete.
My little ship all brave and gay
To foreign countries sails away.
Sometimes I take my silver spoon
And raise a terrible typhoon!
All white with foam the billows roll
And nearly overflow the bowl.
Right gallantly the ship behaves—
No use, she sinks beneath the waves,
And then I chuckle in high glee,
And swallow both the ship and sea!

GAME BIRDS NOW PROTECTED.

Law on Partridge, Quail and Other Varieties On Again in Rhode Island.

The law for the protection of game birds went into effect December 16, and from now on hunters are forbidden to shoot partridge, quail and other varieties of birds found in this state. Ducks, hawks and crows are about the only members of the winged tribe upon which the hunter can longer train his gun without being liable to punishment by fine. January 1 the law on rabbits and grey squirrels will become operative, and after that date their shooting will also be prohibited.

Hunters throughout the state report that this has been the best season in years. Game has been plentiful and the efforts which the commissioners intend to put forward during the coming months promise still greater things for the future of the sport.

DUNN HELD IN "THREAT" CASE.

Alleged Author of Wilson Letter Given Preliminary Hearing.

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 19.—Jacob Dunn, alone of the three mountaineers charged with having sent threatening letters to President-elect Wilson, was held for the grand jury at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing here this afternoon. Seeley Davenport was discharged and Dunn's bail was reduced from $2000 to $1000.

United States Commissioner Stockton, before whom the hearing was held, found that the evidence against Davenport was insufficient. Warren Dunn, Jacob's brother, was released yesterday by the court for a similar reason. Jacob Dunn had not furnished bail and was held in confinement. He is alleged to have admitted writing the letter, but to have denied its authorship, declaring that his former alleged statement was made under duress.

The three men were arrested last week on the charge that November 11 last they sent Governor Wilson a letter demanding $5000 upon penalty of death.

SLANG AND SLANG.

As an Addition to Language, Vivid Phrases Add Force to Speaking and Writing.

[New York Tribune.]

A Radcliffe College student, who is also a playwright, comes to the defense of slang. "What she calls 'good slang' she says is necessary to the language, which without it would lose much in vividness and force.

So far as slang is an addition to language, the substitution of a vivid word or phrase for colorless description or characterization, it is an element for force and attractiveness in speaking and writing. Much slang is crystallized metaphor and is a perfectly legitimate enrichment of the vocabulary. With the new cant phrase of politics or society, founded on some striking incident, nobody can reasonably find fault. But there is another sort of slang, or another use of good slang, which is not an enrichment but an impoverishment of language, and against it not merely the sticklers for dictionary English but all who care for the preservation of the full resources of our tongue should labor unceasingly.

That is the slang of indolence, the shorthand of speech. And it is far more familiar than the slang which colors and diversifies. How often we meet with persons of intelligence and ideas who have so fallen into the habit of using cant slang phrases to express their thoughts that those thoughts have no distinction and definiteness! These persons have often lost command of words adequate to give sharp edge to their meaning. They are like primitive folk with only a few words in stock, and those few words of slang are made to do duty with all sorts of different meanings, of which the speaker can give no clear definition and the hearer can gain no satisfactory concept.

By all means let us keep the new pat phrase which strikes off a situation and has some stimulating power. Nobody wants a dead language. But neither should we have an anaemic and lame one, hobbling along on the crutches of slang. Our language has a great variety of words with shades of meaning which are going out of use, and with them the clear thinking which they call for, simply because lazy people habitually substitute the rude synthesis of slang, which somehow or other approximates their idea, for the words which would accurately express it.

THE PROBLEM OF SMOKE.

Action Causes Enormous Waste, Destruction of Vegetation and Deaths Among Animals.

[William D. Harkins, in Popular Mechanics Magazine.]

It is strange that so little is known in regard to smoke, but that the importance of such knowledge is just beginning to be understood is shown by the recent establishment in the University of Pittsburgh of a laboratory for the sole purpose of studying smoke from a scientific standpoint. In this laboratory, started less than a year ago, there are already 25 specialists studying this problem. The United States bureau of mines is also studying the problem of preventing the escape in cities of the black smoke due to coal, and it has just established a special laboratory in San Francisco for the purpose of studying the smoke given off by copper-smelting plants. Chicago is conducting a study of its own problem; much work is being done by industrial concerns, and abroad the problem is being scientifically attacked.

That the work now being done is entirely inadequate may be seen when it is considered that the smoke inspector in the city of Chicago estimates that the damage caused annually in that city by the soot and other ingredients of smoke amounts to $50,000,000 in ruined merchandise, and on the same basis it is said that the damage in the entire United States would be about $600,000,000 in one year. This, however, does not by any means represent the entire loss since the black soot, which escapes and does a large part of the damage, is really wasted coal, and it is estimated that the coal lost in the smoke amounts on the average to about 10 per cent of all that is used. In other words, the average purchaser of coal, when he pays $5 a ton for it, tosses 50 cents' worth out of the chimney unburned, to do damage to his neighbors, and then usually wastes a large proportion of the heat in the four-and-a-half-dollars' worth that is left. When it is realized that the purchaser of this ton of coal is also paying for his share of the 300,000,000 tons of coal that are wasted in this country every year, some comprehension may be gained of the magnitude of wastes of this nature. However large these figures, the work of the government has shown that the losses are even greater than they would indicate, for by converting the coal into a gas called producer gas, not only is all the damage due to the soot of smoke eliminated, but in addition, by using the gas in a gas engine, a ton of coal gives two and a half times as much power as it would in a steam engine.

What would you think of the loss of a million dollars a year up one chimney? It is probable that there has never been a loss so great as this in exactly this way, but a Western smelter company has had a very interesting experience. A few years ago it was found that large quantities of arsenic, copper, sulphuric acid and other substances, were being thrown out by their four great smokestacks. The arsenic especially gave them considerable trouble, for the farmers, some of whom lived as far as 15 miles away, claimed that their cattle were being poisoned by the smoke and were dying, and that no one wished to buy the hay, which was the principal crop of their farms, since it seemed to have bad effect on the cattle that ate it.

WOMEN SHY AT JURY DUTY.

An evident reluctance among women in Independence, Kansas, society to respond to calls for jury service has brought an announcement by Justice Clarke that he "intended to have a woman jury in every case in his court where the testimony is not likely to be of an embarrassing nature." He said women had more time for jury duty than men.

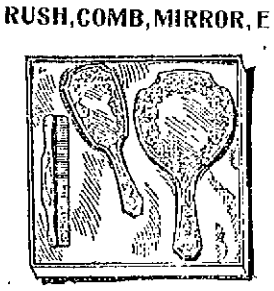

The deputy sheriff reported that he had found it practically impossible to serve subpoenas on six prominent women summoned as jurors in the case of "Jim" Blue, to be tried, charged with "shooting up" an interurban street car. In many cases, he said, he was met at the door by a butler or maid with the information that the mistress was "out of town," while at the same time he could see the "absentee" at an upstairs window laughing at him.

Light Your Kitchen with a Rayo Bracket Lamp

Sometimes in the kitchen or elsewhere you need a lamp held high, where it will light the whole room, and be out of the reach of children.

The Rayo Bracket Lamp is made for exactly this purpose. It is one of the famous Rayo Family—the best kerosene lamps made. A clear, white light, steady, diffused. A strong, substantial bracket, easily affixed to the wall. The lamp is inexpensive. Economical. Lighted without removing chimney or shade. Rayo Lamps are made in various styles and for all purposes.

CURED VERY SORE RASH ON BABY'S EAR

Scratched Until It Bled, Then Turned Into Scabs. Mother Washed It with Cuticura Soap and Applied Cuticura Ointment. In Three Weeks He Was as Well as Ever.

74 Blackstone St., Worcester, Mass.—"First a red rash came on baby's ear and it was very itchy. He would scratch it until it would bleed and then it would turn into scabs, and get very sore. He was very cross. I got some ointment; but that made it worse and made him crosser. I bought the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and washed baby with the Cuticura Soap; then put the Cuticura Ointment on. I was surprised to see him getting better after a few treatments and I kept on using them. At the end of three weeks he was perfectly cured. Now he has a beautiful clear skin and has not had any trouble since.

"When I saw how it cured baby I made my husband try it on a rash he had on his leg, which was very sore. After using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment six times it disappeared for good." (Signed) Mrs. John D. Dixon, Nov. 12, 1911.

For treating poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, Cuticura Soap and Ointment have been the world's favorites for more than a generation.

Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

SHORTAGE OF LINE OFFICERS.

A Great Stagnation in Promotion Will Result Unless Higher Grades Are Increased.

There continues to be a shortage of line officers in the navy, due to the increased number of vessels in active service and in reserve. According to Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, in 1916 there will be enough officers, if the average output of the Naval Academy remains the same, to man the fleet properly if there are no more battleships than at present. There will, in fact, be the New York, Texas and Pennsylvania. The proportions, however, are not in accordance with Rear Admiral Andrews's views. He states that unless the higher grades are increased there will be a great stagnation in promotion. The number should be distributed in the various grades to meet the requirments of the service. He says:

"Of the 1,171 officers in the lowest two grades more than 670 would be junior lieutenants, and at the rate of promotion now provided an officer would be 16 years in that grade and could not become a commander under 65 years of age, leaving only four years before retirement for service as commander, captain and flag officer. Needless to say this would mean a condition far more intolerable than that from which the personnel act of 1899 gave relief."

ONE NEW TRIAL POSSIBLE.

Ordered Unless Plaintiff in Dog Bite Case of Anna Marshall Shall Reduce the Damages.

Rescripts have been filed by Judge Baker in the office of the clerk of the superior court in the cases of Anna and Rosie Marshall vs. John Vanasse. When these were heard some time ago the jury gave verdicts for the plaintiffs, awarding damages of $50 to Anna Marshall and $200 to Rosie Marshall, for injuries received from the bites of a dog belonging to the defendant.

In the case of Anna Marshall Judge Baker rules that, unless within 10 days the plaintiff shall remit all in excess of $15 damages, a new trial is granted. In the case of Rosie Marshall the decision is that the damages are not excessive and the motion for a new trial is dismissed. The rescript also considers the question of liability and decides that the testimony established a clear right for action under the general laws.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of The News]

Mr. Sylvanus P. Fish, superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School, is seriously ill, confined to bed and under the care of a physician. This is the third winter that he has suffered from a similar illness for many weeks. It began the day after the recent Sunday School celebration.

Brownell's yard is empty of coal of any kind, but a barge is expected and said to be on the way.

Mr. Clarence E. Brownell has returned from the South and set up housekeeping in the "Bee hive."

Mr. Walter P. Sherman still continues very ill, unable even to raise his head. Mr. Herbert Chase is caring for him nights.

Mr. James T. Earl of New Bedford is spending the week in town.

Mrs. Greene, widow of Oliver Greene of Providence, about 90 years of age, having many relatives and nieces by marriage in this town, is very ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. Elwyn B. Anthony, who has been for a week in the family of Mr. Edward Hicks of Tiverton, caring for a pneumonia patient, is expected home today.

Mrs. George Hollister of Hartford has arrived at the home of her father, Captain Oliver G. Hicks of Bristol Ferry, to remain over the Christmas holidays. Mr. Hollister will join them at Christmas.

Dr. and Mrs. McCallagh of Worcester, the latter aunt of Mrs. J. M. Eldredge of Bristol Ferry and formerly a visitor here, and Mrs. Isaac M. Potter of Providence form three of a party of eight who left today for a trip to the Panama canal, going by water.

The Associated Workers, who were to have an exhibition of their various industries and a sale at the Social Studio, were defeated in their purpose for the present by the storm.

Mrs. Edwin F. Manchester, who has been confined to bed for a week, is a little better.

Mrs. Walter Brinkman was taken seriously ill Wednesday morning.

Mrs. John Paquin, who submitted to an operation at her home early this week, is doing well.

APARTMENT HOUSE ONLY ONE STORY HIGH.

Apartment houses only one story high have been evolved by an architect of Sierra Madre, Cal., after the Spanish mission style. The cottages or apartments are built on the north and west sides of a town block, leaving the south and east sides open for the sun to reach each cottage and allow the residents an outlook on a green terraced lawn. Designed for small families, each apartment consists of only three rooms with an entrance loggia, which can be used for a sleeping porch or sitting room. While they all join in one long rambling structure, the individual apartments are so cleverly constructed that they give no less privacy than a cottage in a well built-up neighborhood. Each family has its own well defined bit of garden and walk, which merge harmoniously into the larger lawn.

MIDDLETOWN

[Regular correspondence of The News]

The Paradise Club was entertained at its weekly meeting by Mrs. S. W. H. Peckham at her home on Honyman hill. Current events were conducted by Mrs. Edward J. Peckham and the subject of the afternoon, "American Artists and Their Works," by Mrs. William J. Peckham. Light refreshments were served.

In spite of the rain there was a good attendance at the usual Wednesday supper at the Methodist Episcopal Church, conducted by the Ladies' Aid Society. The evening was spent in preparing the Christmas greens, secured from the Tiverton woods Monday by Messrs. E. Robert Grinnell, Walter Barker, Roland and Gardner Peckham and others, and the decorations of the church were nearly completed. The small amount of work unfinished was done this morning by the pastor, Rev. E. E. Wells, and Mr. Walter Barker.

The offering for St. Andrew's School taken at the Berkeley Memorial Chapel this fall was $52.55 and for St. Mary's Orphanage $35.22.

Mrs. William Irist will entertain the Epworth League at its weekly cottage service, which will be devoted to Christmas and is to be conducted by Rev. Mr. Wells.

While most of the schools will hold their closing Christmas exercises Friday, those at the Oliphant school took place this afternoon.

WILL ACCEPT YALE OFFER.

Taft's Decision to Take Kent Professorship Greatly Pleases Officials at New Haven.

President Taft has decided to accept the proffer of the Kent professorship of law at Yale, and probably will take up his duties at New Haven early in the spring. He will not be restricted merely to lectures to Yale students, but will be permitted to lecture if he desires in other law schools or upon the platform, or to engage in any other occupation which he sees fit.

If he had returned to Cincinnati to resume his law business he feared that he would have but little opportunity for practice. He felt that he could not appear on cases before the United States Supreme Court, because he has appointed a majority of its membership. He also remembered when he thought of the law that he had named many federal judges in Ohio before whom he might have to argue cases and he believed that about the only sort of practice which he could take up would be informational, and that he regarded as uncertain.

At Yale the President will be in surroundings dear to him and in a position to engage in almost any sort of business which he believes becomes a retired President. The analogy between the Yale professorship and Grover Cleveland's relation with Princeton appealed to Mr. Taft strongly, and when many of his close friends and advisers wrote to him approving his acceptance of the chair at Yale he decided to take it.

The President expects to spend several weeks after March 4 in Augusta, Ga., where he has many friends.

The news that President Taft has made up his mind to accept the Kent professorship of law at Yale was received with keen pleasure. President Hadley said he was "very glad" that the President had made the decision, and Dean Henry Wade Rogers of the Yale Law School said he was "delighted."

NEW ATLANTIC FLEET PAY OFFICER.

Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, who at Hampton Roads January 4 will relieve Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus as commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, has selected Pay Inspector Samuel McGowan for duty as fleet pay officer. He will succeed Pay Inspector E. W. Bonnafon. In the cruise of the battleship fleet around the world Pay Inspector McGowan was the fleet pay officer from San Francisco back to Hampton Roads, and handled with success one of the largest supply problems which ever confronted the service.

In Missouri it has just been discovered that a state job which would pay about $9,000 annually in fees had not been filled for 13 years.

SHIP AHOY!

[Elizabeth Knobel, in Continent.]

My bowl of milk, you will agree,
Makes a delightful China sea;
And for a ship both brave and stanch
A little piece of bread I launch.
But first I load it, just for fun,
With currants from my supper bun.
A little jam, some jelly sweet,
And then the cargo is complete.
My little ship all brave and gay
To foreign countries sails away.
Sometimes I take my silver spoon
And raise a terrible typhoon!
All white with foam the billows roll
And nearly overflow the bowl.
Right gallantly the ship behaves—
No use, she sinks beneath the waves,
And then I chuckle in high glee,
And swallow both the ship and sea!

FANCIES.

GAME BIRDS NOW PROTECTED.

Law on Partridge, Quail and Other Varieties On Again in Rhode Island.

The law for the protection of game birds went into effect December 15, and from now on hunters are forbidden to shoot partridge, quail and other varieties of birds found in this state. Ducks, hawks and crows are about the only members of the winged tribe upon which the hunter can longer train his gun without being liable to punishment by fine. January 1 the law on rabbits and grey squirrels will become operative, and after that date their shooting will also be prohibited.

Hunters throughout the state report that this has been the best season in years. Game has been plentiful and the efforts which the commissioners intend to put forward during the coming months promise still greater things for the future of the sport.

(My commission expires July 1st, 1913.)

The announcement that the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company is ready to build a new railroad depot whenever Newport shows that it really wishes it, quite naturally opens again the question of the most suitable site. The suggestion is heard that the changed condition of Long wharf makes that a more desirable place than when the matter was actively considered in former years. With the improved highway, the construction of the sea wall, the removal of many of the old dilapidated buildings and the erection of new ones, the location now presents a vastly better appearance. The erection of a handsome railroad station on the north side, with a fine architectural front facing the harbor, would add materially to the general effect.

It is hoped by many that the railroad company will consider this location before it decides to erect the new station, and if it finds its facilities can be equally well cared for there will decide to erect on Long wharf a station which will be an addition to the public buildings of Newport. In any event, it is confidently expected that the city will within a short time give evidence that it desires a new railroad depot, and in a location which will give the best terminal facilities and the best architectural results.

UNDER THE NEW NEWSPAPER LAW.

In the last hours of the session of the Sixty-Second Congress a rider was inserted in the postoffice appropriation bill which has brought from the press much discussion and a good deal of protest. The reason for the clause has not been made fully clear by those supporting the bill. This law makes it the duty of newspaper publishers to inform the department by sworn statement upon several points, and to do or not to do several things, none of which have ever before been required by a government of a free people. It would seem that the statute comes dangerously near being an infringement of the liberty of the press guaranteed by the constitution of the country.

The constitutionality of the law has been argued before the Supreme Court of the United States, and the decision of that tribunal is awaited with interest.

The act was passed too late in the session to permit hearings or protests or an expression of public opinion. In all probability it will be modified or repealed at the present session of Congress, but while it stands newspapers must obey or suffer the penalty of exclusion from the mails.

The Daily News, in conforming to the mandate, is only stating in a formal way what it has before freely told, so that the returns to the government in the case of this paper convey little or no information which has not already been given out. The Daily News is perfectly frank in dealing with the public, and desires to hide nothing which any one is entitled to know. In giving the figures of its circulation it has recognized that a man has as good a right to understand what he receives for his money when paying for an advertisement in a newspaper as when he is buying groceries or clothing.

There is another reason why The Daily News does not hesitate to give its circulation, because it takes particular pleasure in the size of its editions when compared with those of other papers in cities of the population of Newport.

There are certain questions which the government asks which would not seem to be such as it would concern the public at all to know, but in these as well as in the matter of circulation The News has nothing to hide, although it considers the asking to be inquisitorial.

The clause of the law requiring that all editorial or other reading matter published by a newspaper, for which money or other valuable consideration is paid or promised, shall be marked "advertisement," does not affect The Daily News. It has been the invariable custom of the paper for many years rigorously to exclude all paid matter from its reading columns. The enforcement of the rule has, perhaps, sometimes seemed to those interested unnecessarily severe, but it was adopted and has been maintained as a matter of good faith with the readers of the paper.

The statement required by the Postoffice Department appears in this issue of The Daily News.

ELECTIONS BY THE INCOMING LEGISLATURE.

The session of the legislature which will convene on the seventh day of next month will be of more than ordinary moment for a number of reasons. In the first place it will be charged with unusually important business in the matter of the election of officials of the different departments of the state government, and in the second place it will undoubtedly have before it for action considerable legislation of a vital character. It is rather to be feared that with the great body of the members the first of these two sorts of business will receive the greatest attention and it is practically certain that this will be given the lion's share of consideration until it is accomplished, when time may be bestowed more closely on the making of new laws. Perhaps it is just as well that this business of filling offices should be done at the beginning of the session or it might be difficult for the average legislator to fix his mind upon the law-making portion of his duties.

To the elections of state officials more interest is attached in the coming session because, while these will be for only one year as heretofore, the legislature is expected to change the law so that all will hold office for two years instead of one. This will make it more desirable than ever before to hold public positions, because the incumbents will be assured a tenure of at least two years. At present state office holders as it were live only from hand to mouth, with no certainty of continuing to hold their jobs beyond a single year; if the term is made two years it will give added permanency to the positions and make them so much the more worth having and an election so much the more desirable. Thus greater interest is felt than usual in the election of state officials, because of this possibility of longer terms.

In addition to this, at the coming session of the Assembly there is a certainty of the necessity of the election of one new judge and a possibility of one or two more. A successor must be chosen for the late Judge Christopher M. Lee of the superior court, there is talk of the likelihood that Chief Justice Edward C. Dubois will retire early in January, when he will reach the age at which he will be eligible to withdraw from the bench, and there is also some gossip concerning the possibility of the addition of another judge in order that the business of the courts may be transacted more speedily and promptly. If the incoming legislature should choose three new judges that would be a larger number to be elected at one time than has ever fallen to the lot of any Assembly except at the time of the re-organization of the courts a few years ago. Naturally speculation is rife as to who will secure these possible positions and there is division of opinion as to whether the present judges should be advanced or new men created from the members of the bar. Lawyers prefer the former course, but the legislators may have a different plan. The possibilities in this direction constitute one of the most interesting features of the impending session of the Assembly.

The incoming legislature will also have the duty of choosing a successor to United States Senator Wetmore, who will not be a candidate for re-election. The Republicans are pledged to support Judge LeBaron B. Colt, while the Democrats have as yet decided upon no candidate, former Governor James H. Higgins, who was their choice, having absolutely declined to allow the use of his name for the place. The Republicans are in a large majority in grand committee, so that there seems to be no possibility of any other action than the election of Judge Colt. This practical certainty lessens the interest in this feature of the session and yet it is a factor in the unusual importance of this session.

Senator Bristow of Kansas offers a postmaster preferential primary bill, which would affect the appointment of every postmaster in the United States who receives $300 or more a year. His plan is to hold a nominating election for postmasters where vacancies occur, for the purpose of filling the office by the voice of the people. The candidate receiving the largest number of votes cast in the nominating district would be appointed by the Postmaster General and serve for a term of five years. Only after full hearing on written charges could a postmaster be removed. The Democrats do not like the bill, for various reasons.

In spite of bitter opposition, the House passed the Burnett immigration bill, which provides that aliens above the age of 16 who are unable to read and write English or some other language shall be listed among the "excluded classes," though immigrants who show that they are fleeing from religious persecution are exempted from the provision of the bill. The opposition came from Democrats and Republicans whose districts contain a large foreign population.

President-elect Wilson, who has settled down to making up his cabinet slate, has, it is reported, agreed with the Democratic leaders that it will be an economic and not a political body. The positions are not to be distributed to pay off political debts, and the leaders expect that several men who will be taken into the council will be practically unknown in political circles. This is an excellent idea, if carried out successfully.

The verses of Will Carleton, whose death is announced, were poems of human nature and struck a responsive chord in the hearts of all sorts of people. His "Over the Hills to the Poor House," especially pathetic and sympathetic, is and will continue to be best known.

Staunton, Va., where President-elect Woodrow Wilson will observe his fifty-sixth birthday, December 28, in the house of his birth, incidentally expects to entertain 3000 other visitors during the great day.

ANTHRACITE A LUXURY.

Increased Expense of Mining and Cost of Labor Make the Fuel More Expensive.

Anthracite coal was at one time an important factor in blast-furnace practice, but its use in that line of industry has now almost entirely ceased, according to E. W. Parker of the United States Geological Survey, as it has been supplanted by coke made from bituminous coal. The principal demand for anthracite will be in the future, as it has been in the more recent past, restricted largely to domestic trade, for which such sizes as furnace, egg, stove and chestnut are required. The breaking down of the lump coal, which was formerly a marketable product, for the preparation of the domestic sizes results in a much larger proportion of the small or undesirable sizes, all of which are sold at less than the cost of production. All the profits on the mining operations must be obtained from the prepared domestic sizes for the revenue obtained from the smaller sizes, which are sold largely in competition with bituminous coal for steaming purposes, serves only to reduce the cost of the domestic sizes. The conditions under which the anthracite mines are operated, the greater depths to which the workings are carried, the consequent increased expense of mining and the increasing cost of labor all contribute to make anthracite fuel more and more a luxury.

During recent years the anthracite operators have adopted the policy of making an allowance of 50 cents per ton from circular prices for domestic coal purchased in April of each year, with an advance of 10 cents per ton for each succeeding month until the schedule prices are restored in September. This has had a more salutary effect in steadying the anthracite trade than any other action taken by those controlling the anthracite industry. Its purpose is to encourage the purchase of coal in the spring and early summer, making the cellars of the consumers the storage places for the following winter, and at the same time to cause the mines to be operated more regularly, thus giving steadier employment to employes throughout the year.

TROLLEY CAR BENDS IN THE MIDDLE.

An experimental street car known as the articulated car has just been put into service on one line in Boston. This car embodies a number of new features making for safety, comfort and convenience of passengers. As the name articulated indicates, the car is jointed, which enables a car of large capacity to be used on tracks having sharp curves without dangerous overhang of cars, and is therefore particularly well adapted to meet the conditions in Boston, which is famous for its narrow and crooked streets.

TWO ESSENTIALS.

[Gifford Pinchot, in St. Nicholas.]

The essential things which distinguish one individual from another, which give one man a higher place among his fellows and another a lower, are just two: First of all, perseverance—the ability to keep everlastingly at it; and, secondly, imagination or vision—the ability to see beyond the present moment, and to understand that the work at hand reaches beyond the present moment, and so is worth while.

THE INCREASE OF SOCIALISM.

Progress in the United States Measured by Political Strength and Growth of the Press.

[Morris Hillquit, in Metropolitan.]

In the spring of 1910 the Socialist party gained its first notable political victory in the United States by carrying the city of Milwaukee, the twelfth largest city in the country.

In the following general Congressional elections which took place in November of the same year, the Socialist party increased its vote by about 40 per cent, passing the 600,000 mark. In these elections also the party for the first time in the history of the United States captured a seat in the House of Representatives. Mr. Victor L. Berger was elected as the Socialist representative to Congress from the Fifth district of Wisconsin.

Nor did the political tide of Socialism abate in the local elections of 1911. In that year the Socialists carried 18 cities and towns, among them the large industrial city of Schenectady in the state of New York; New Castle in Pennsylvania; eight towns in Ohio; five in Utah, and one in Minnesota. Berkeley, Cal.; Butte, Mont.; Flint, Mich., and several other towns had been carried for Socialism in the spring of the same year.

At the beginning of the present year the Socialists controlled the administration of 56 American cities and towns, and had elected more than 1,000 representatives to various public offices, including seven state legislatures.

But the progress of the Socialist movement in the United States can by no means be measured by its political strength and achievements alone. The Socialist party was organized with a membership of less than 10,000. Toward the end of 1901 the party consisted of about 1,500 local sub-divisions, with a total of about 25,000 enrolled and dues-paying members. Within the period of the following eight years the number of local organizations has risen to about 8,000, with a combined membership of approximately 130,000.

Another indication of the increasing importance of the movement in the United States is the growth of the Socialist press. In 1901 the Socialist party was supported by about 40 publications in different languages. Since then the number of strictly Socialist publications has increased to more than 300. The greater part of these are periodicals in the English language; five are daily newspapers, 10 are monthly magazines and the rest are weeklies. Thirty Socialist periodicals are printed in the following foreign languages: German, Finnish, Slavonic, Jewish, Polish, Bohemian, Lettish, French, Italian, Danish, Hungarian, Lithuanian, Russian, Swedish, Norwegian and Croatian. The first important English daily newspaper of the Socialist party was launched in Chicago in the fall of 1906, under the name of Chicago Daily Socialist (it has since changed its name to Chicago World), and it was followed by the establishment of the New York Daily Call in New York, in May, 1908. The Appeal to Reason, a weekly paper, has a circulation of about half a million copies, while the Chicago World and the Jewish Daily Forward are said to sell more than 100,000 copies each per day. Among the monthly Socialist magazines, one, the Progressive Woman, is devoted primarily to the task of carrying the gospel of Socialism to women and the Young Socialist aims at educating the youth in the philosophy of Socialism.

IMMUNITY FROM FIRE.

Ultimate Revolution in Art of Animated Photography Promised by French Invention.

Immunity from fire in cinematograph shows and an ultimate revolution in the art of animated photography are promised by the development of an invention demonstrated in a London picture palace. The invention consists of animated photographs produced without the use of celluloid or transparent films. The invention, which is that of a Frenchman named Dupuis, is an entire departure from the present principle of projecting pictures by transmitted light. The transparent ribbon of celluloid gives place to a ribbon of mirror-like silvered and fireproof paper. The small photographic images printed on this paper in the usual manner are projected on the screen by the light reflected from them.

In spite of the more complex course taken by the illuminant there appears to be no great diminution in brilliancy, the lamps at present in use giving a picture far superior in lighting to those commonly shown until quite recently. If looked at only from the point of view of public safety, this invention has considerable importance, for it demonstrates the practicability of quite a new means of projection. It paves the way for the popular adaptation of the cinematograph as an aid to teaching, and will open up paths of progress that have hitherto been barred by the risks of fire and prohibitive insuance rates.

Other possibilities are opened up by this invention outside the world of cinematography. One of these is the production of unbreakable paper lantern slides. Another and still more novel possibility is that of publications to read in the dark. These magazines are designed to consist of metal-faced paper, the pages abounding in illustrations. To read and enjoy them to the full each page should be separately placed in a special but simple projection apparatus, illuminated from the ordinary electric light supply.

FOR NEW DEFENSIVE OUTPOST.

Duty at Pearl Harbor and the Canal Zone Would Reduce This Country's Force or Troops.

The military authorities confront difficulty in obtaining sufficient troops for the new defensive outpost at Pearl Harbor and for the Canal Zone. The problem has been considered by boards of officers sent to Panama and Hawaii.

At first the officers calculated that not less than 100,000 men would be necessary to protect the naval war base and dockyard at Pearl Harbor. Now it has been decided to confine the plan to the immediate neighborhood of the Pearl Harbor station. It is estimated this may be done with 12,000 men, composed of a permanent garrison of six regiments of infantry, a regiment of cavalry, a regiment of field artillery and a battalion of field artillery, in addition to the regular companies of coast artillery.

In Panama it is proposed to maintain a garrison of three regiments of infantry, a squadron of cavalry and a battalion of field artillery, as well as the coast artillery companies. It is believed that this force would be able to resist a naval attack by about 6,000 men. The small force of cavalry is to act as "eyes" of the defensive force. The terminal of the canal will be protected by fortifications with heavy guns manned by coast artillery. The mobile troops will guard the canal itself and prevent the invasion of an enemy bent on seizing the waterway or destroying the locks.

Duty at Pearl Harbor and in the Canal Zone would draw 9,000 troops from the United States, leaving within continental limits 16 regiments of infantry, 11 2-3 regiments of cavalry, three regiments of field artillery, 118 companies of coast artillery and two battalions of engineers, taking into consideration no reduction in the present force in the Philippines. This would reduce the infantry and cavalry force in this country to about 14,600 men.

CHRISTMAS EXERCISES IN THE KINDERGARTENS.

The public and parochial schools will close Friday for the Christmas Holidays. At the five kindergartens in the morning there will be Christmas trees and exercises appropriate to the season, to which parents of the children have been invited. The morning and afternoon classes will unite for these exercises and the decorations and gifts have already been prepared by the children for the trees. These will be the real Christmas observances by the children. There will be no afternoon session for the little ones. In some of the other grades there may be short exercises appropriate to the season at the close of the schools in the afternoon.

THE GOAT THE ATTRACTION.

Presented by Redwood Lodge to Bristol Body, on Occasion of Official Visit.

Redwood Lodge, Knights of Pythias, accompanied by the Uniform Rank, made an official visit to Burnside Lodge, No. 34, of Bristol Wednesday evening, for the purpose of conferring the third rank.

The Pythians marched up Thames street to the Providence car, headed by the Seventh artillery band. In the procession, attracting special attention, was a goat led by John E. Rank, dressed as Headsman. The presentation of this goat to the Bristol lodge was one of the incidents of the evening, the understanding being that it shall be given to other lodges from time to time, until it has gone over the whole circuit. The goat was given by Chancellor Commander Sydney D. Harvey, and in his honor the goat was named "Sydney D." Around the animal's neck was a collar, which is eventually to return to Redwood lodge, after it has been with its owner over the entire circuit. Past Chancellor J. C. Walsh, acting as Herald, made the presentation speech.

When the Pythians arrived in Bristol the rain was coming down in torrents. This did not deter the Bristol members from turning out and giving the Newporters a royal welcome. All along the way to the lodge rooms, about a quarter of a mile, there was an abundance of red fire and on arrival at the hall everything was done to make the visitors warm and comfortable.

CASES HEARD WITHOUT JURY.

One Divorce Granted and Another Denied—Question of Jurisdiction in Coal Mine Matter.

Judge Baker held a session of the superior court this morning, without jury, to hear several matters.

Mr. Levy presented the case of Mary Louise Dixon vs. William Curtis Dixon, in which desertion and neglect to provide were shown. The marriage was in Newport in 1904. Decision for petitioner, with custody of minor child.

The divorce case of Mary Andres vs. Joseph Andres was denied.

In the matter of William A. Borden vs. John Burnett, receiver, there was argument by counsel, and the case was held for the submission of briefs. Plaintiff had a lien on the lands of the Rhode Island Coal Company, and claims that when all but $1,003 had been paid he was asked to wait a little. In the meantime the business went into the hands of the receiver, shutting him out. As the receiver was appointed by the United States court, it was a question if the state court could take jurisdiction in the matter now under consideration.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mrs. W. B. Fletcher has gone to Philadelphia.

—Mr. W. G. Stockwell is confined to his rooms at the Young Men's Christian Association by illness.

—The weather man so arranged the rainfall today that Superintendent Lull again escaped ending in a rain signal. It was a narrow escape.

—At a session of the probate court Wednesday afternoon Abraham L. Ash was appointed custodian of the property of Emma Francis, deceased.

—There seems to be no dearth of Christmas trees, for Newport at least. Some of the holly brought in last week seems to be showing the results of being picked too early, but some is in fine condition.

—The teachers of the public schools and the janitors will receive their pay Friday at the city treasurer's office. The quarterly pay rolls of the fire department will be ready for the firemen at the same place Monday. The city treasurer will therefore have two busy days before Christmas.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Rhinelander, Mrs. LeRoy King, and Dr. and Mrs. William C. Rives were summoned to Newport Wednesday evening on account of the serious condition of Miss Mary Skinner, who has been ill at her residence on Red Cross avenue for some time. Miss Skinner's condition is critical.

—Dog Constable George C. Hallock announces that he is to be a candidate for re-election at the coming meeting of the Representative Council. He was chosen some six months ago to succeed his father, and it is generally agreed that he has performed the duties of the office well and has been prompt to answer all calls.

—Wednesday's receipts from the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals at the postoffice were $8.41. Miss Elizabeth Hammett and Miss Emily P. Campbell were in charge of the booth throughout the afternoon, being relieved later by Guerney Maxwell and Powell Kazanjian, who remained on duty until closing time. Miss Mabel Stacy and Miss Marion G. Dowling are selling the seals today.

MAYOR-ELECT TAKES THE TIP.

Mr. MacLeod Opens Correspondence Regarding New Railroad Station.

Improvement Association Moved Months Ago—Preliminary Plans Already Made.

Mayor-elect MacLeod is not letting the grass grow under his feet. He declared himself during the campaign as believing that the chief executive should be a worker to secure betterment for the city, and specifically named a new passenger depot as one of the great needs and a thing for which he would work if elected. He has been elected, and The News announced Wednesday that now is the time to negotiate for a new station. He has taken the tip, and today began correspondence with officials of the company. He is not yet mayor, he realizes, but as he will soon occupy the chair he feels that it is proper for him to begin to work on the problem, knowing that in treating with a large corporation it takes time to come in touch with the officials who have the laying out of such work.

The tip given by The News that Newport could have a station if it went to work now ought not to be understood to have been without inspiration. It should have been apparent from what The News said Wednesday that there has already been some preparation on the part of the company, for otherwise it could not have been stated that the old plan of placing the station on Long wharf had apparently been abandoned for a site approximately where the present depot is. It is probably safe to say that there are already preliminary plans for locating a new station. The plans for the architectural features of a building are but a small part of those necessary, as the layout of trackage and approches furnishes engineering problems which require much study.

There has been a reason for the action of the company in having its engineers study the local situation, and a strong one, though the records of the city government do not show any activity during the past year which would suggest it. The fact remains that the Newport Improvement Association has been engaged in the matter, and as far back as last summer had two prominent men here to confer with its representatives on the ground. Members of the Association, which includes many prominent stockholders in the road, have already been assured that the company proposes to do the right thing by Newport, and it is understood by those who are keeping in close touch with the matter that a new depot is only a small part of the improvements contemplated and a large amount of money is eventually to be spent here. Of course all plans are dependent, as stated Wednesday, upon willingness of the city to do its part, as is common wherever improvements are made which help both the railroad and a municipality.

THE RAIN WAS WELCOME.

Storm Pretty Hard at Times and Ponds at Water Works Higher in Consequence.

The storm came to an end this morning shortly before 11 o'clock, though this afternoon it looked as though it was only a recess and that little more was due. It started to come down about 1:30 Wednesday morning and therefore had rained more or less steadily for more than 33 hours. Up to 6 Wednesday night it had been just a light fall and the total according to the Water Works gauge was only .34 of an inch—just a third of an inch, for nearly 18 hours of rain. After 6 the supply seemed to be larger or more pressure was put on. Any how, it came pretty hard at times and people were made to feel that it was a real rain. In the 12 hours from 6 to 6 this morning there was 1.02 inches and at 6 this morning it was coming down in a style to discourage early risers. When it finally ceased the total had been brought up to 2.32 inches, which is some rain.

Out of town they say the water was lying on the surface, as though the land was too hard and dry to absorb it, but the chances are that it finally went through. All town there was no damage from washouts reported. While there were many hard showe they did not last long.

The rain was welcomed by those who know it is needed. The Green End pond of the Water Works was three inches higher this morning than it was Wednesday and the Paradise pond 3½ inches higher. The water was coming in fast and promises to continue to come for a long time yet, and to make a difference in the appearance of the ponds. They need a change. Acomparison of the state December 15 this year and last shows the north, or Green End, pond 53¾ inches lower and the south pond 54 inches lower than a year ago. Both, however, are higher than they were in the extreme dry season of 1910. The condition of the ponds December 15 for the three years was as follows: 1910, north pond, 110¾ inches; south pond, 95¼. 1911, north, 34 inches; south, 34½. 1912, north, 77¾ inches; south, 85½ inches. These will probably be the low marks for this season, as the present rain will rapidly fill them.

FUNERALS AT ST. MARY'S.

Masses Celebrated This Morning for Thomas Norbury and Mrs. Peter Faerber.

There were two funerals from St. Mary's Church this morning. The first was that of Thomas Norbury, of 9 Dearborn street, which took place at 9 o'clock, the mass of requiem being celebrated by Father Hines. The regular choir under Professor Commette, assisted by Mr. J. J. Butler, sang the mass. The interment was at St. Columba cemetery, by carriage, and the bearers were Andrew O'Connell, George Brown, L. Smith, William Maher, Levi Norbury and Dennis J. Sullivan.

The funeral of Mrs. Henriette H. Faerber took place from the home of her husband, Peter Faerber, on Prospect Hill street to St Mary's at 9:45, when a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Father Ryan, assisted by Father Tierney as deacon and Father Hines as sub-deacon. Father Reddy of St. Augustin's was within the sanctuary. A large number of friends of the family were at the house and others joined at the church. At the close, Father Ryan reading the service for the dead, Mrs. Girr-Burkinshaw sang "Face to Face." The interment was in the family lot in St. Mary's cemetery and the bearers were Edward Otto, Otto L. Ruecker, Samuel Smith, Andrew K. Quinn, Frederick W. Schroeder and Patrick J. McMurray of New York. There were many handsome floral tributes.

SHOP EARLY.

Advice Disregarded and Heavy Trading Must be Done Be the Weather Fair or Stormy.

"Shop Early" has been the advice set at every hand for weeks past, but some dealers in Newport say the public did not take the advice and the displays in their stores suggest that this is the case. When the first open evening for certain places came it stormed. It storms today also, and there are now but four more days to shop.

While the advice has been so freely given to shop early, the weather has been favorable, even if it did not seem like Christmas. Now the buying must be done, fair or stormy, and since Newport has been prosperous the past year the indications are there is going to be heavy trading, even if it does come at the end, when the shoppers cannot have the opportunity to make careful selections and the clerks will almost be driven off their feet.

HOUSE ADJOURNS.

Senate, Doing Other Business, May Not Hear Taft's Message.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The House today adjourned for the Christmas holidays recess, until January 2, without receiving President Taft's message. The message, however, was sent also to the Senate, which remained in session.

The Senate, before the message was delivered to it, went into executive session to consider President Taft's appointment, confirmation of, which had been held up by the Democrats. The result of the session was one confirmation that of John H. Brown as postmaster at Concord, N. H.

Then the Senate went into session as a court of impeachment to continue the trial of Judge Archbald of the commerce court.

If the Senate does not receive the message today it will go over until January 2.

Greek Military Airman Hurls Bombs Into Fortress of Janina.

PARIS, Dec. 19.—A veritable hail of bombs was thrown into the Turkish fortress of Janina by the Greek military airman and an accompanying comrade, who yesterday flew over the city in an aeroplane, according to official advices received here.

The airman, whose name was Mountzurris, took a large supply of bombs with him in his biplane and he and the Greek officer with him hurled these explosive missiles down on the principal buildings, to which they did serious damage. The population was terrorized.

LIQUOR MANUFACTURED THERE.

Two Secret Rooms Discovered in An Old Rutland Hotel.

RUTLAND, Vt., Dec. 19.—Repeated failures of sheriff's posses to secure evidence of illegal liquor selling in many raids made upon an old hotel here in years gone by have apparently been explained by the finding of two secret rooms. Charles P. Harris, proprietor of the hotel, discovered one more window on the outside of the house than appeared on the inside and this led him to investigate, with the result that the rooms were found. One appeared to have been used as a "still" room, where the liquor was manufactured. In days when Vermont was a prohibition state the hotel was many times suspected of furnishing liquid refreshments to its guests, but a successful raid was seldom made, according to old-timers.

MORE SHIPS NEEDED.

Protection of Panama Canal Strong Argument Among Congressmen.

The Vexing Question of Tolls—a Woman's Point of View—Southerners and Titles.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—More ships to protect the Panama canal and enforce our policy of free tolls for American ships, even in the face of England's protest, is the word which is being passed about Congress these days. Those who favored two battleships last year and want three provided this year to make up the deficiency are saying that no other course is open to this country if we intend to back our legislation against England, more particularly as England will have the support of all European and maritime nations.

The temper of the Democratic House is not toward more ships, but for a decrease to one each year, as provided in the last naval bill. Whether the new situation will make it appear necessary to provide more than one is yet to be determined. But one thing may be set down as an actual fact—without enough battleships the United States will not be able to back up the position taken in reference to free tolls for American coastwise ships and the exclusion of ships owned by trusts and railroad corporations in foreign countries.

One woman was heard telling another a few days ago that the Archbald impeachment trial "was most interesting." If she could convince the Senators who feel obliged to listen and the newspaper men who have to report the proceedings that the trial is really interesting she would confer a great favor. The trial is almost as interesting as a funeral and worse in one respect, for it lasts longer.

Several years ago when Cleveland was expected to appear at a function where he would have to be introduced to make a speech, the president of the organization remarked, "Well, you can bring him, but I want it understood that he'll get blamed few adjectives from me."

If Mr. Bryan becomes a part of the new administration and there should be a clash between the Secretary of State and the Speaker of the House the situation just referred to would be reversed. Bryan would get some strong and emphatic adjectives from the Speaker. From recent private utterances it is known that the Speaker does not propose to allow any one to tread upon his toes. And, as he once remarked, he is in no mood to make "goody goody speeches about Bryan."

Whenever a claims bill is considered in the Senate every Senator tries to get in all the gun for his constituents. Thus it happened that Senator Lodge offered an amendment for an old-time war claim for the benefit of one of his constituents.

"If you load down the bill with that kind of claims," remarked Chairman Crawford, "I will not give it my support."

"I don't see why this claim should go on the bill," remarked Clarke of Arkansas, "simply because the claimant happens to be a constituent of the Senator from Massachusetts."

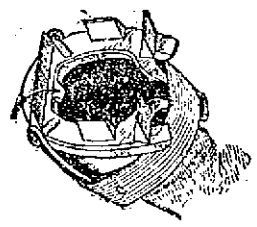

That and a few similar remarks killed the Lodge amendment. It is hard to get a satisfactory claims bill passed because there are so many tough old claims which are pressed for payment.

It may be a joke, but it is a fact, that Southerners are great for bestowing titles upon other men. There is scarcely a man in Congress from the South who is not either a "judge," a "colonel" or a "major". The majority of the members of the managers of the impeachment trial are Southerners. Every one of them is "judge" to his fellow members. But the most amusing feature is the constant reference to the chief counsel for Archbald as "Colonel" Worthington. Worthington protests and demands that he be called plain "Mr.," but his Southern friends persist in giving him the title.

While the House was trying to take Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson, away from Congressman Jefferson Levy, Congressman Stanley of Kentucky created a new kind of descendants. He referred to the "spiritual descendants of Thomas Jefferson." Coming from Kentucky, it created some amusement.

The interrogation points have been put aside. Those busy investigating committees that kept witnesses on the stand and stenographers on the jump during the last two sessions have been quiescent during the present session. Perhaps they procured all the information they wanted. Certainly they stacked up more literature than will be read in the next 10 years.

Arthur W. Dunn.

MAY BE APPOINTED A MASTER.

Boy Scout Directors Puzzled How to Reply to Lord Eustace Percy.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Directors of the Boy Scouts of the district of Columbia are puzzled today just how to reply to Lord Eustace Percy, third secretary of the British embassy, who has offered his services to the local juvenile brigade. It is believed to be the first time that a British peer has sought actively to join in the semi-military training of the youth of another country. Lord Percy contends, however, that the spirit of militarism should not prevail in the organization, but the move should be for the physical, moral and mental training of the boys of every country. In Great Britain, where the movements orginated, the Boy Scouts are semi-military. It is altogether likely that the British diplomat will be appointed a "scout master" in the local organization.

EIGHT REMAIN IN LINE,

A 16-Mile Walk to Fishkill Faces the Suffragette Pilgrims.

FEEKSKILL, N. Y., Dec. 19.—A steady downpour greeted the suffragette pilgrims when they prepared today to resume their march to Albany with a message to Governor-Elect Sulzer. They had before them a 16-mile walk to Fishkill, the longest day's tramp of the journey thus far. Mrs. Olive Schultze, the official scout of the expedition, who motored to Albany and back, recently reported officially today that she found much deep mud. Nothing daunted, however, "General" Rosalie G. Jones, with her two surviving followers and Mrs. Jessie Stubbs, who re-joined the ranks last night, announced that it was "Albany, if it takes all winter."

Just before the start Mrs. Stubbs issued a defi to all anti-suffragists, here and in Albany, to meet her in joint debate. Entertainment at luncheon was promised the marchers when they reached Garrison today, and in their honor tonight the suffragettes of Fishkill will give a reception.

Business engagements forced Alphonse Major, "quartermaster" of the expedition, to desert today and a picturesque farm wagon replaced his automobile as a baggage convenience.

Re-inforced by three local suffragettes and one new recruit from New York, the marchers got under way shortly before 10 o'clock after equipping themselves with new rubber boots. The weather at that hour showed signs of clearing.

HARVARD REGISTRATION.

Every State in the Union Represented Among the Total 5,224.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 19.—Harvard registration for the college year is 5,224, including the members of the various faculties and the students of the summer school. The student registration is 4,460, according to the official figures given out by the college authorities. Every state in the union is represented by students and 29 foreign countries have 134 representatives. The endowment of Massachusetts men is 2,018. New York is in second place, with 439. The law school, with 741 students, is the largest of the graduate schools.

TAFT TO LEAVE TONIGHT.

Two Parties of Government Officials Will Inspect Canal Zone.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Two parties of high government officials will leave tonight for the Panama canal to inspect the big ditch. The first will be headed by President Taft and include members of his family, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Beekman Winthrop and Mrs. Winthrop, Secretary and Mrs. Hilles and several others. The second party is composed of members of Congress, including Senator Poindexter and Representatives Sweet of Michigan and Oldfield of Arkansas and their wives.

The President's party is to embark on battleship Arkansas at Key West, while the Congressional investigators will sail on the Red Star steamer from New York. The party are to arrive in Colon the day before Christmas and the President will spend three full days in looking over the work. It is expected that he will proffer to Colonel George W. Goethals the post of governor of the canal zone and the impression is general that the canal builder will accept the appointment.

The White House was one of the busiest places in the capital today in preparation for the exodus. It has taken on an air of solemnity for several days, for the President and his family do not expect to return to it before December 31 or possibly New Year's day.

President and Mrs. Taft and their invited guests will leave Washington tonight for Key West, Florida, on the first leg of their trip to Panama. Mr. Taft will be back in Washington in time to shake hands with a few thousand persons at his last New Year's reception. The party will be away from Washington 12 days. Four will be spent on trains, five at sea and three in Panama.

It will be the President's fifth visit to the zone and his first to Florida. It will not be merely a pleasure trip for the President. He has determined to make Colonel George W. Goethals, builder of the canal, governor of the zone under the forthcoming civil administration. He wishes to discuss the organization of the force which is to operate the canal after it is opened with the governor-to-be. It probably will be Mr. Taft's last visit to the canal before the ships go through.

TO DEVELOP ITS RESOURCES.

Great Flood of Europeans Pouring Into Argentine Republic.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Equalling and perhaps exceeding the wild rush of immigration to America a quarter of a century ago is the tremendous flood of Europeans now pouring into the Argentine Republic to develop its vast resources. Figures received at the State Department and just made public show that 10 days, from November 1 to 10 last, no less than 17,530 European immigrants landed in the southern republic, of whom 80 per cent were Italians and Spaniards.

SEATING MAY BE ENLARGED.

Improvements At the Chicago Ball Park Under Consideration.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—President Charles Comiskey of the Chicago American League club announced last night that improvements at this park are under consideration which, if carried out, will give a seating capacity of 45,000. He estimated the expense of enlarging the park at $200,000.

HELD IN HEAVY BONDS.

Former Bookkeeper of Derby Desk Company Charged With Larceny.

BOSTON, Dec. 19.—Robert H. McFawn, former bookkeeper and paymaster at the Somerville factory of the Derby Desk Company, waived examination on a charge of larceny of $10,000 from the company when he appeared in the Somerville police court today. He was held in $5,000 bonds for the grand jury.

ATTRACTS OUTSIDE ATTENTION.

Six States Seek Copies of Frawley Boxing Law of New York.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Indications that the Frawley boxing law of New York state is attracting much outside attention came with the announcement by the state athletic commission today that during the past week no fewer than six requests have been received from other states, including Massachusetts and Connecticut, for copies of the law.

BOTH SAIL FOR AMERICA.

Miss Asquith and the Countess of Aberdeen to Visit the Bryces.

LIVERPOOL, England, Dec. 19.—Miss Violet Asquith, daughter of the British premier, sailed from here today on board the Celtic for America. The Countess of Aberdeen, wife of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland and former Governor General of Canada, joins Miss Asquith when the vessel arrives at Queenstown. Both ladies are to be the guest of Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce at Washington.

FOR RETIRING FLOATING DEBT.

Plan to Increase Maine Central Stock to be Considered.

PORTLAND, Maine, Dec. 19.—A proposition to increase the capital stock of the Maine Central railroad from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 will be considered at a special meeting of the stockholders to be held January 8. The proceeds of such an issue would be used for retiring the floating debt of the company.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION URGED.

Vocational Training in Schools May be of Actual Profit.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Vocational training in the public schools can be undertaken not only without cost to the taxpayer but may be made a source of actual profit, according to Commissioner Claxton of the federal bureau of education today. In making a plea for the extension of the industrial education Dr. Claxton cited the experience of the industrial classes in the schools of Gary, Ind., in the past year. They showed a profit through the work turned out by the pupils of $875.43 over all expenses.

"This is real value too," said Dr. Claxton, "for the pupils made articles that were needed in the schools. If they had not made them in the schoolships the authorities would have to have purchased them in the open market at a total price of $7,000 or $8,000."

The profits returned were divided among three classes—that in printing earned for the schools $175.43, the cabinet workers made $453.48 and the painting department $246.52.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper at 71¼, American Smelting & Refining 67¾, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 105¼, Baltimore & Ohio 101¼, Canadian Pacific 256, Erie 32, Missouri Pacific 41, National Lead 55, New York Central 108, Northern Pacific 119¼, Reading 165¾, Southern Pacific 105¾, Southern Railway 27½, Union Pacific 154¾, United States Steel 64¾, United States Steel preferred 109½, Lehigh Valley 168¾.

10—Harriman stocks were weak at the opening of the market, owing to the announcement that representatives of the Union Pacific had been unable to agree with the Attorney General on a plan of distribution for its holdings of Southern Pacific. Union Pacific dropped 2 points on the opening sale of 2,000 shares. Southern Pacific fell back 1¼ to 104¾, the low point of the recent long decline. The remainder of the list showed sympathetic heaviness. Reading and New York Central lost 1¼. Some of the industrials also were weak. Mexican Petroleum fell back 2¼, Colorado Fuel 1½ and Pressed Steel Car 1. American Tobacco advanced 1¼.

11—Supporting orders were distributed in the Harriman stocks and they quickly made up their losses. The whole market also turned upwards vigorously and the active features rose above yesterday's close. Amalgamated and Smelting gained about a point.

Noon—Various influences were brought to play upon the stock market today. The Attorney General's rejection of the Union Pacific's plan to distribute Southern Pacific stock, and Reading's unexpected dividend increase were the chief new speculative factors. Improvement in the European political situation, the decision of the Bank of England not to increase the discount rate and the prospect of adjustment of the railway firemen's demands were secondary considerations which helped to shape speculative sentiment. In view of these varied influences traders were in some doubt at the outset, but when the first rush of selling was over the whole market moved upward and before noon was showing a good proportion of gains. Bonds were irregular. Money on call, easier at 4½ per cent; prime mercantile paper, 6 per cent. Exchange: $311,072,810; balances, $13,149,427.

NEW POSTOFFICE NEXT.

Likely to be Hastened by Coming of the Parcels Post Service.

Present Quarters Inadequate and Too Far from Transportation Terminals.

Many do not appreciate the fact that what the government proposes to inaugurate in the introduction of a parcels post is a general express business, but with a restriction as to weight and size, so that a horse cannot be shipped here as is said to be possible in Germany.

The introduction of the new system promises early to attract attention to the unfitness of the local postoffice to its work. There has been talk before of a new building for Newport, but there will be more as the months roll on if the parcels post proves the great success expected.

By numerous additions and alterations at the office it has been put in fairly fit condition for the work which has been required, but it is expected to fall short as an express office. There is not room for the needed expansion of floor space, and the fact that the level is so far below the street will prove another objection. With the coming of packages of the size to be allowed, their weight and their variety of contents, it can be foreseen that much cannot be shipped in the old-time mail bags to be thrown around, piled in heaps and even walked over. The transfer from the sorting places to the wagons cannot be by the individual piece, and if there is any volume to the business trucks and baskets will need to be used and a flight of stairs will prove a severe obstacle.

Again, while citizens may not appreciate the fact, it costs the government considerable money to keep the office where it is. It was all right when the burden of the mails came to Commercial wharf, but since the transportation companies must provide transportation to offices if within a quarter of a mile of their stations it can be seen that, now that all the mail comes from the Long Wharf district, the government is called upon to provide the extra transportation. With the need of a new building to secure room and conveniences for the new departure, it is certain that there will also be a new location; nearer the terminals of the transportation lines.

While the local officials are in no materially different plight from those in most postoffices over the coming of the new service, they are certainly doing a good deal of worrying during these pre-Christmas days. They are obliged to spur themselves to meet the Christmas rush, with full assurance that a week later there will come the annual gust of New Year's bills as well as the parcels. The spare moments, if they have any such, they are giving to planning for the big service which is coming, and they scent a new complication as soon as they have straightened out the one in hand.

HAPPY TIME IN THE CHURCHES.

Christmas Holidays Will See Many Entertainments in Honor of Santa Claus.

Christmas week and the one following will be a happy time in the churches, judging from the variety of entertainments which are being rehearsed in honor of Santa Claus.

The Trinity celebration will be December 26, which will consist of a playlet, "Eager Heart" to be given by amateurs for the juniors and seniors of the Sunday School, while on the following evening there will be another entertainment for the kindergarten and primary department.

Emmanuel Church will likewise have two entertainments, December 30 and 31, for the older and the younger members respectively. "The Best Gift of All" is the title of the play to be given on the first night and the other affair will consist of singing and speaking by the scholars and the distribution of gifts.

The St. Olivet Sunday School will gather on the Thursday evening following Christmas and witness the descent of Santa Claus down the chimney, with his wonderful pack of gifts. After these have been sorted and distributed ice cream and cake will be served to old and young and there will be a general social time with music.

A Christmas cantata is to be presented by the older girls of the First Baptist John Clarke Memorial Church, December 30, in which Santa Claus will have a prominent part. At an appointed time he will emerge upon the stage and direct the distribution of gifts among his young friends in the audience.

"Christmas as Observed in Different Countries" will be presented in the entertainment which is to be a part of the First Methodist Episcopal Church affair on the Friday evening following Christmas. A Christmas tree loaded with gifts will occupy a conspicuous place in the room.

THE BOY AND THE STOLEN BICYCLE.

The police have a "hard nut" on their hands in the person of a small boy, aged 12, the latest charge against whom is stealing a bicycle. December 7 one of the postoffice clerks lost a bicycle which he had temporarily left in front of a shop. He notified the police and kept his eyes open. Finally he located the saddle in the possession of a lad, one wheel was found attached to one bicycle and the other on another and the enterprising thief agreed that the frame, not being salable, had been tossed into the harbor from Spring wharf. The boy was already on probation to December 27 and in the absence of Judge Franklin Clerk Kelley continued this case to Friday of next week. This lad has already been in, for stealing a basket of grapes, and later for being in the entry of the Lincoln Hammett shop.

In addition to this case, there were two of drunkenness, who were fined; one paid.

Wednesday night two soldiers were reported as procuring food at a Chinese restaurant and going away without paying.

MR. WERRENRATH'S RECITAL.

Estimates of Artistic Singing to be Heard at the Philharmonic Society's Concert.

The following estimates of Mr. Werrenrath's artistic singing will be of interest to those who choose to avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing him at the Philharmonic Society's concert. They are taken from the notices of his recent song recital in New York:

The Evening Mail said: "His strides have brought him into a class when contains but a few equals. His voice, always agreeable, has grown more flexible, more full of color effects, and his delicate shading is artistic, with no marring influences. His diction and enunciation are far above those heard on the concert stake in most cases and his interpretations are always those of a sensitive musician with no small degree of intellect."

The Times critic wrote: "Mr. Reinald Werrenrath is one of the most enterprising of local singers; his recitals rarely fail to offer something of unusual interest. Mr. Werrenrath is also truly artistic in his manner of presenting his material and his voice, not very powerful, has excelent quality and fine schooling, and his style of singing charm and artistic finish."

The Sun said: "Imagination is not wanting in the art of this singer, while infectious gaiety and humor often make themselves felt when needed. In such songs as 'The Lark in the Clear Air' (to be sung here) Mr. Werrenrath is always heard with satisfaction."

The Evening Post says: "It is a pleasure to write about Mr. Werrenrath's recital. * * * The program was well chosen and arranged, * * and the singer was in excellent voice. He has gained in variety of tone color, and his mezza voice is more resonant. Standing at the back of the hall the softest tones could be heard, and also the unaccented syllables of unimportant words. At no time did he force his voice, nor was he off key, maintaining the pitch in an unaccompanied Irish folk-song, taken down, as the Times critic states, from the lips of an Irish singer, which the audience demanded a second time. "Wanbonosa's Longing, one of the Ojibway melodies, was the gem of the program. Mr. Werrenrath has never done anything beter. His voice was under perfect control, and there was just the right amount of sentiment in its coloring. * * * Mr. Werrenrath may never receive $2,000 a night, but he may be assured that such singing as he did last night will do more to raise the standard of vocal music in America than the wanton display of physical force applied to the vocal chords, imported at high cost."

MORE GRAFT ARRESTS COMING.

Both Commissary Stewards and Contractors Involved in the Naval Investigation.

Captain A. T. Marix, judge advocate general for the navy, in the investigation being conducted at Norfolk into charges of graft in connection with the purchase of supplies for vessels of the Atlantic fleet, had a long conference Wednesday with Assistant Secretary of the Navy Winthrop. While both were reticent in discussing the disclosures made by Captain Marix to Mr. Winthrop, it is known that developments at Norfolk have justified the investigation which Assistant Secretary Winthrop instituted several months ago. More arrests are expected to be made, involving both commissary stewards and contractors. District Attorney D. Lawrence Groner has been working with Captain Marix in the investigation at Norfolk and the Department of Justice is expected soon to undertake the prosecution of the civil offenders concerned in the case.

DUE TO RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Joseph F. Stone's Daughter, Baroness Winslow, Dead in Bareilly, India.

Mrs. Joseph F. Stone received a cable despatch Wednesday, announcing the death in Bareilly, India, of her daughter, Edith Stone Winslow, Baroness Winslow. Her decease was due to injuries received in a runaway accident, but the details are not known here.

Mrs. Winslow was the widow of Major Edward Winslow of the German army, who was gentleman in waiting to Princess Victoria of Charschaum-Lippe and who died in 1904. She was married in Berlin in 1893 and resided at Bonn on the Rhine until her husband's death. In recent years she had made several visits to her mother, making her home in England. She left England last September to travel in India. Besides her mother and sister, Miss Emma P. Stone, who reside in the Bellevue Avenue residence here, Mrs. Winslow is survived by one other sister, Mrs. Samuel Norris, Jr., of Bristol, who was formerly Countess Alexander von Beroldingen.

COST OF PROVIDENCE END HEAVY.

Committee Unable to Guarantee That and Local Expenses.

Child Welfare Exhibit in This City Postponed Until Last Week in March.

At a meeting of the general committee and others interested in the proposed Child Welfare exhibit, at the Rogers High School Wednesday afternoon, it was voted to postpone the date, set for the latter part of January, until the last week in March, when the schools will have their Easter vacation and greater time can be given to the undertaking. This action was taken after Dr. Anna Strong, who has charge of the state Child Welfare exhibit, and Dr. North of the Playgrounds Association of the United States, had spoken of the advantages and purposes of the plan, and after the financial backing desired for the enterprise had been discussed at length.

Miss Harriet E. Thomas of the Charity Organization Society presided, making a short address in opening. She spoke of the conditions in Newport which would be benefited by the exhibit and the necessity of stirring the city to a realizing sense of these conditions, the need of overcoming them and the advantages which Newport offers for successful social work. Special reference was made to helpful spirit manifested by the vote of the taxpayers at the recent election authorizing the expenditure of $30,000 for playgrounds and their equipment. She urged the necessity of an advantageous use of these opportunities for good in the community and the necessity of educating those who will conduct the new playgrounds, that they may become a benefit and not a detriment to the city.

Dr. Strong, who has managed Child Welfare exhibits in a number of the larger cities of the United States and is in charge of that in Rhode Island, spoke at length of their purpose and the manner of conducting them. She said: You do not want an exhibit unless you have something to show and unless you have something you wish to secure. These exhibits are educational, and generally for the purpose of obtaining desired legislation or of influencing public sentiment in favor of a change in conditions which will be of benefit to a community. In other cities they have been the means of securing special legislative action, which has been for some reason refused or overlooked. She mentioned the exhibits at Northampton, Mass., where there were immediate results in the conditions surrounding home labor and better school facilities; in St. Louis, where many reforms, were directly attributable to the exhibit; in Kansas City, where a factory inspection law was shortly afterwards adopted, and in Louisville, where tenement-house inspection was the result. In each of these cases what was needed was the creation of a popular sentiment, and this was secured by the graphic descriptive exhibits of existing conditions. The exhibits have also been advantageous in bringing social workers along different lines together for more efficient service.

Dr. Strong then spoke especially of the financial support needed in Newport. It is hoped that this city will contribute $500 towards the state exhibit, for which and its own local display Providence is collecting in the neighborhood of $5,000. This $500 is to be used towards the general expenses of the state movement. For bringing the exhibit to Newport, setting it up and removing it $250 will be needed; $100 for local screens, and $150 for publicity, office expenses and the general demands of the organization. In all $1,000 will be necessary to bring the exhibit to Newport. She suggested that Miss Swayne be brought here after the Providence exhibit to direct the local affair.

Miss Thomas, following a suggestion of Dr. Strong, spoke of making a special feature of the recreation question, also of the necessity of awakening the city from its apathy on other social improvement lines. She then introduced Dr. North of the Playgrounds Association of the United States.

Dr. North referred to the application of the exhibit idea to the recreation problem. It is easy, he said, to convince people of the need of recreations, but it is difficult to lead them to an appreciation of the technique of the work. The playgrounds may become an absolute menace to the community, but it gives a splendid opportunity for good if properly managed. It is essential to a community to know what the young people and the children are doing, and to be able to direct them in the right way. One of the great questions to be determined, is the relation of the playgrounds to other social centres. The people have come to know that the playground needs a definite social need, in taking care of the off-time of the children. This work, however, must be done with intelligence.

Nothing can bring home to the community the necessity of local recreation grounds and activities with greater intelligence than the sort of exhibit proposed, bringing the people who should know to see what the conditions are and what can be and is being done to improve these conditions, to make the child happier, more intelligent and more moral. Now that the city of Newport is to have its own public playgrounds there is the greater necessity for more general intelligence in their operation and their possibilities for good.

There was a discussion of the financial problems which the proposed exhibit has developed. Mrs. Hamilton Fish Webster, chairman of the finance committee, said the committee did not feel that it could guarantee the $1,000 or more asked. It was quite willing to raise the amount needed for the local exhibit, but found in this proposition to contribute $500 for the state a problem which it feels unable to solve. This was entirely unexpected by the members of the committee, and there was a unanimous feeling that it could not undertake to raise the full amount.

Then followed a general discussion, in which it was asked how Providence had been assured that Newport would contribute $500 to the state exhibit. It was said that at a meeting of the local executive committee, when Providence representatives were present, a number of the local members had said there ought to be no difficulty in raising $1,000 or $1,200 in Newport. There was a general feeling that Providence had not consulted Newport in this regard and had made its assumption without authority.

During the discussion Miss Thomas called upon Miss Davidson, Miss Alterloy, Miss Emery and Miss Mackaye, the local social workers, to speak of the advantages of the exhibits, and each said that it would be of great benefit. Then there was further discussion of a general nature, by Mrs. Webster, Mrs. John Nicholas Brown, Superintendent Lull, Rev. George Vernon Dickey, Dr. Strong, Dr. North, Dr. Mary E. Baldwin and Miss Elizabeth R. Peckham. Finally Dr. Baldwin moved that the exhibit be postponed until the last week in March, and the motion was adopted. The meeting adjourned at 5 o'clock, to allow Dr. Strong to catch the train for Providence.

In order to secure funds for the proposed exhibit, by popular subscription, The News will announce contributions and is able to start with the announcement of two, one for $100 and one for $150. Others will be acknowledged as they are received, with or without the names of the givers, as desired. It is hoped that by this means the entire $1,000, including Newport's contribution to the state movement and the expenses of the local exhibit, may be quickly secured.

MISS CONSTANCE WARREN WEDS.

Married to Count de Lasteyrie in a Quiet Manner, Owing to Mrs. Goelet's Death.

Monsignor Lavelle officiated at the wedding today of Miss Constance Warren to Count de Lasteyrie, eldest son of the Marquis and Marquise de Lasteyrie of Paris and of the Chateau de Lagrange, at the Fifth Avenue residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Warren, in New York. Owing to the deep mourning of the Warren family for the death last week in Paris of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Robert Goelet, whose body is on the ocean homeward bound, the wedding was a very quiet affair, the attendance being restricted to a few relatives and intimate friends. The bride was unattended and Mr. George Henry Warren, Jr., acted as best man.

The honeymoon will include an extended trip among the Rocky Mountains and to California, after which Count and Countess de Lasteyrie will go to Paris to reside.

NEWPORTERS AS OFFICERS.

At present there are about 20 of them and the purpose of this organization is to bring before the people of their home state the advantages of the university. The meeting was called by Mr. J. C. E. McLennan, who was chosen president pro tem, and Mr. E. T. Voigt secretary pro tem, both these students being from Newport. The members have decided to meet in Providence December 23, for a smoker and in order to come in touch with the Rhode Island alumni, lately organized. Mr. McLennan is a student of the civil engineering school, '15, and Mr. Voigt a law student, '14.

MORE LIKE FOOTBALL.

Seniors Win Over Juniors, 20 to 8, in Basket Ball Game at Rogers High School.

The third game in the inter-class basket ball series at the Rogers High School Wednesday resulted in a win by the Seniors over the Juniors by the score of 20 to 8. As has been usual, the play was more like football than basket ball, and the boys most of the time were rolling around on the floor or wrestling with each other.

In the first half the game was closer than in the second. In the latter period the Seniors ran away from the Juniors and the play was at the former's end of the hall almost entirely. The Senior backs as well as the forwards would cluster around the basket, and, much the same as the Rogers team did last Friday night, would shoot and shoot, but rarely put the ball in. The crowd was unsportsmanlike hooting and yelling when a man was trying to make a basket after a foul, the supporters of both teams being offenders in that line.

For the Seniors, Dring played well, Although a back, he played forward most of the time. Wyllie was good at centre. Integlia and Edward did the best for the Juniors. The summary and line-up:

Seniors		Juniors
Jennings, r. f.		l. g., Wood
Greason, Goodrich, l. f.		r. g., Integlia
Wyllie, c.		c., Chase
Plummer, Dring, r. g.		l. f., Moore
Jemail, l. g.		r. f., Edward

Score—Seniors 20, Juniors 8. Goals from floor—Dring 3, Jennings 2, Greason, Goodrich, Plummer, Jemail, Edward 3, Moore. Goals from fouls—Dring 2, Edward, Integlia. Referee—Mr. Chase. Timer—Marshall.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS ADDRESSES.

Newport Council, Knights of Columbus, has arranged for a series of addresses on appropriate subjects at the regular meetings and Father Ryan of St. Mary's Church is to give the first of these. It had been announced that this would be heard this evening, but on account of the Christmas season this will be postponed.

In addition to these talks to the members at the regular meetings, the Council is planning to have during the winter addresses by speakers from away on subjects of general interest, which will be open to others than members. In the past the Council has had a number of good speakers and they have made interesting talks.

EARLY LENT NEXT YEAR.

Travelers to Berlin Hasten Departure for Presentation Period at Court.

Owing to the early Lent next year which begins February 5, and is the earliest that it will come for the next 95 years, the Schleppencour, which is the presentation period at court in Berlin, will be held earlier than usual. An inquiry by The Daily News elicits the information from the German ambassador at Washington that, although he has not been officially notified as to the exact date of court this year, it will be much earlier.

This means much to American travelers, as the lists for invitations to the larger social affairs are not made up until after this event, which means that those planning their usual visit to Berlin will now hasten their departure for the other side. Rear Admiral French E. Chadwick, U. S. N., (retired), and Mrs. Chadwick, who will leave for New York tonight, will sail for Berlin Tuesday next, instead of on the twenty-eighth, as formerly planned.

TO REDUCE THE HEAVY DEBT.

First Presbyterian Church Making Effort to Raise $5,000, Board to Take Over the Balance.

At a meetin of the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening, arrangements were made for materially reducing the debt, which is now $20,000. For some time the members have been busy obtaining money and pledges and the approaching twenty-fifth anniversary has been seized as a special incentive to the effort, which will be to reduce the amount to $16,000. If this can be accomplished, and the congregation and the pastor, Rev. N. J. Sproul, feel assured that it can, the Presbyterian board will take over the indebtedness at the rate if six per cent, carrying three per cent to the credit of the principal.

THE FRENCH VANDERBILT IMPROVEMENTS.

A steam drill is at the corner of Harrison avenue and Brenton road, working in the ledge to make excavations for two cottages which Mrs. French Vanderbilt is to build for her butler and gardneer. Work on the cottage for her coachman and on the stable is already well along, to the south of this on Brenton road, and Hitchins & Co., have the greenhouse under way. To give connections for the new cottages it has been found necessary to lay a sewer from the corner of the end of the city sewer on Halidon avenue, near the Brown-Havemeyer line, and this is being done at the expense of Mrs. Vanderbilt.
